Subject: AMC Networks Feed Changes

Please be advised that AMC Networks will be transitioning our SD and HD networks (AMC, WE, IFC, SUNDANCE and BBC America) to an HD-Only platform. As a result, upon completion of the project, the AMC Networks SD feeds must be down converted from the HD feed using Aspect Form Descriptor (AFD).

We will be offering all our HD networks in both East Coast HD and West Coast HD feeds.

To ensure a smooth transition, below are some important action items and dates.

AMC Networks (All Networks except BBKA):

- AMC Networks will be transitioning to a new HD-Only platform on Galaxy 14 (125 degrees West) Transponder 18 beginning June 10, 2019 with the project set to be complete by August 1, 2019.
- To continue to receive the HD and SD services, new equipment may be required.
- Please CLICK HERE to start filling out the required information for equipment.
- If qualified, we will be sending an Arris 7400 Series which will provide the AMC Networks HD signals. If you require SD channels but are unable to down convert, please let us know and we can consider provisioning different equipment.
- PLEASE FILL OUT THE INFORMATION BY DECEMBER 15, 2018 SO WE CAN DETERMINE IF THE HEADEND IS QUALIFIED FOR A NEW RECEIVER.
- IF YOU DO NOT SIGN UP, AMC NETWORKS WILL ASSUME YOU DO NOT REQUIRE EQUIPMENT.

BBC America:

- As a Phase I for BBC America, Discovery will be moving BBC America SD East Coast feed from AMC 11, Transponder 22 to Galaxy 13, Transponder 22. If you wish not to migrate the SD East feed for BBC America and you currently receive BBC America East Coast HD via a DSR 6400 series receiver, you may choose to down convert to SD at this time. Effective May 1, 2019, the BBC America East Coast SD feed will only be available on Galaxy 13, Transponder 22. The existing feed on AMC 11 will be discontinued at that time.
- Phase II will be migrating BBC America feeds to Galaxy 14 (125 degrees West) Transponder 18 beginning June 10, 2019 as an HD Only feed.
